The Board of Directors of the National Council of Teachers of English met in the Committee Room at the New Gotham Hotel during a recess of the Society on Saturday morning, Dec. 1911. Those present were: Barbour, Boswell, Buck, Clof, Clarke, Coulter, Darling, Hopkins, Hosie, Huston, Lynch, We Comi, Miller, Mitchell, Neal, Peake, Scott, and Zephyrie. Votes were cast to determine the terms of the various directors. The results will be found on page 2832-33 of the English Journal for January 1912. The directors then proceeded to elect the officers for the ensuing year. The following were chosen: President, Fred W. Scott; First Vice-President, Emma Buck; Second Vice-President, Theodore C. Mitchell; Secretary, James A. Noble; Treasurer, Harry H. Boswell, Member of the Executive Committee for one year, Grace Darling. For two years, Daniel A. Ritchie. For three years, Edwin W. Hopkins.
The question of the publication of the proceedings of the Council was raised and it was moved and carried that "the publication of the English Journal as the official organ of the Society is hereby authorized." It was understood that an arrangement should be made by which the English Journal should be furnished to each member of the National Council so that by joining the Council a person would become also a subscriber to the Journal. This arrangement was explained to the members of the Council at the business session which closed the meeting of the afternoon, and a contract was afterward entered into between the Executive Committee, and Mr. [Name], which assumed the financial responsibility for the publication by which each member of the Council should receive the Journal by paying the fee of [Amount] which should go to the Journal as the purchase of a year's subscription.
After the adjournment of the Council a vote was taken by mail upon the following resolutions offered by Professor Scott in place of those presented by Mr. Clarke on December 2:

Resolved: (1) That the Council draw the attention of Examiners in English to the protest of the New York State Association of English Teachers, adopted at its meeting of December 1909, and embodied in a pamphlet entitled "An Open Letter to Teachers of English"; (2) That it is the sense of the Council that if examinations in English for admission to college are to be held at all, the tests suggested in the circular will obviate many of the present evils; (3) That after such desired by the New York State Association can be attained most simply and directly by the general adoption of a system of certification; (4) That resolutions were adopted (the vote will be found in the English Journal for February 1823).
The Executive Committee, Manseff Hall, University of Chicago, Dec. 28, 1912.

The committee met as above and considered the matter of a contract with the English Journal.
The following was approved
and was signed by Blundell F.A.
Scott for the Executive Committee and Mr. J. F. Hothe, who agreed to manage the publication of the Journal and assume the financial responsibility for it.

of the Secretary in attendance for those meetings, should be paid.

The Executive Committee was content to appoint representatives to attend the meeting of the English Association in Greece.
