

TE Teaching English in the Two-Year College TYC

Ann Del Principe Wins the Mark Reynolds TETYC's Best Article Award for 2011

The winner of the Mark Reynolds TETYC's Best Article Award is "Variations in Assessment in Philosophy: Unintended Consequences of Heterogeneous Portfolios", by Ann Del Principe. The article appeared in the September 2010 issue.

The Best Article Award Committee members were Ron Christiansen (Chair), Alexis Nelson, Stasia Callan, and Timothy McLaughlin. The award, which includes a plaque from the journal office and a cash prize provided by past editor Nell Ann Pickett, was presented at the Conference on College Composition and Communication's annual meeting in Atlanta in April.