

Susan Stires

Susan Stires teaches language and literacy courses and advises graduate students at Bank Street College in New York City. Formerly, she was a lecturer at Teachers College, Columbia University and an instructor at the University of New Hampshire. Her 30 years of elementary teaching includes experience at the primary and intermediate levels, as well as specializing in learning disabilities. She taught in urban schools in Boston and rural schools in Maine, including the Center for Teaching and Learning. She has consulted throughout the country and presents at literacy conferences frequently. She is the author of numerous chapters and articles, the most recent of which is "Learning English in School: Rethinking Curriculum, Relationships, and Time" in "Diversities in Early Childhood Education: Rethinking and Doing". Susan specializes in teaching reading and writing with elementary English language learners.

Speaking and Workshop Topics

Level: K-5

- Reading and Writing for English Language Learners
- Balanced Literacy
- Children's Literature in the Reading/Writing classroom
- Curriculum Planning
- Reading and Writing for Students with Special Needs

Chapters/Books by Susan

Diversities in Early Childhood Education: Rethinking and Doing

Beginning Reading and Writing

Experience with Schools

Learning Community Charter School, Jersey City, NJ

P.S. 154, District 7 New York City

College of the Bahamas, Nassau

Reading and Literacy Institute, Adelphi University, Garden City, NY

Tower Hill School, Wilmington, DE

Oswego Public Schools, Oswego, NY

Learn more at www.ncte.org/consultants/stires

1111 W. Kenyon Road
Urbana, IL 61801-1096
www.ncte.org

To consider how to utilize this NCTE Consultant as part of your long term professional development planning or to contract with NCTE for a speaking engagement, speak with an NCTE Professional Development Specialist at 1-800-369-6283, ext. 3617 or 3627.

You can also complete the online request form at <http://www.ncte.org/forms/consulting/>.