

Join a Million Other Readers for the Twenty-First National African American Read-In!

Sunday, February 21, 2010 • Monday, February 22, 2010 (for schools)

Join over a million readers in the Twenty-First National African American Read-In. The event is sponsored by the Black Caucus of NCTE and NCTE.

Schools, churches, libraries, bookstores, community and professional organizations, and interested citizens are urged to make literacy a significant part of Black History Month by hosting and coordinating Read-Ins in their communities. Hosting a Read-In can be as simple as bringing together friends to share a book, or as elaborate as arranging public readings and media presentations that feature professional African American writers.

Read more at <http://www.ncte.org/action/aari>

Download a packet of information from
<http://www.ncte.org/action/aari/packetinfo>

One of many 2009 AARI celebrations across the country was a reading of "The American Dream" by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., by the Multilingual Chorus from the Dallas Environmental Protection Agency, at an event sponsored by the Dallas County Community College District.